Finding the Right Balance

By Rabbi Susan Grossman

I have learned over the years that there is a life lesson to be found in everything under the sun, that includes in our Jewish leap year.

A whole month (Adar I) is added this year so Passover, the “spring holiday” as it is called in the Torah, actually occurs in the spring, rather than travels around the solar year, as it would in a purely lunar calendar (as do Ramadan and Lunar New Year.) Our calendrical adjustment is about finding the right balance between the lunar and solar cycles, yet it carries a powerful lesson for all aspects of our lives!

All Judaism is about finding the right balance: The balance between enjoying our food and being thoughtful about what we eat (kashrut). The balance between work and rest (Shabbat). The balance between taking care of ourselves and taking care of others (gemilut hasadim, kindness, and tzedakah, charity and justice). The balance between particularism, pride in the Jewish People and our Jewish identity, and universalism, appreciation for humanity’s ethnic and religious diversity and recognition that we are all equally children of the same Creator.

Discrimination and divisiveness continue to rise. Yet, the overwhelming community support at our Vigil in memory of those killed in Squirrel Hill reminds us that the desire to balance particularism and universality is not ours alone. The Vigil also showed us that we here at Beth Shalom have a special role and responsibility for raising up this message of balance in our community and our world. That is why this past fall we discussed how to talk thoughtfully about Israel (a particular concern for the Jewish community) and why this coming spring we will be one of three centralized sites hosting Conversation Circles designed to build stronger alliances and deeper understanding with our neighbors of all ethnic, racial and religious identities. We have many new partners of all faiths, ethnicities and racial affiliations. Many participated in the Vigil this past fall. We also will be going deeper this year in our conversations. Training for facilitator volunteers begins in January, our communal kick off event, and the conversation circles themselves in the Spring. (See details within for how to join the conversation!)

Finding the right balance can be difficult. But, as our ancestors discovered long ago, finding the right balance can enrich our lives and those of our families and even help heal the world.

A couple of weeks ago, I went to Beth Shalom for an evening meeting. There was a man I didn't know waiting by the door. When I asked him who he was and why he was waiting, he told me that he was from Temple Isaiah. He had recently lost his father and came to Beth Shalom to say Kaddish, because we are the only congregation in Howard County that has an evening egalitarian minyan.

This incident brought home to me how important it is to have a cohesive Jewish community in our area. We aren't just Beth Shalomers, or Temple Isaiah members, or unaffiliated. We are Jews - of a Jewish community. Beth Shalom's minyan serves all Jews in Howard County, not just our congregation. Over the past year, several non-members have attended our minyan, because they needed to feel a part of that community.

That night, there was a small turn out for the minyan. Those attending the meeting stepped in to make up the requisite ten adult Jews for saying Kaddish. The man from Temple Isaiah thanked us for being there for him.

But it could have easily turned out differently. Had there not been enough people in the building for a meeting, we couldn't have made a minyan. There are several members of our own congregation who are currently saying Kaddish for a parent. There are those who want to attend the minyan on a yahrtzeit, and there are people who are just want to come for the short evening service.

The service is only about 15 minutes, so even with travel time, it isn't a huge time commitment to attend minyan once or twice a month. The minyan begins at 7:15 on Sunday and 7:30 Monday-Thursday, and our dedicated minyan leaders try to make sure it starts on time. It is also an opportunity to see people you may not have seen for a while, or to meet someone new.

I am asking you, all of the members of Beth Shalom, to make it your business to support our evening minyans. There is a rotation, based on last initial, but people rarely come when they are assigned. If your assigned dates are difficult, come on other dates. Come once a month, or on occasions when you are in the area, or have a class or meeting at the shul. Come when you have a yahrtzeit, and ask your family and friends to come to support you.

Think of it this way: Beth Shalom's evening minyan is really Howard County's egalitarian minyan. We serve the community, and it is mitzvah, and a privilege to be able to do so.

In other news: Our building expansion is just about completed. The four new classrooms are already in use for the Religious School, and we're working on future plans for using the extra space we now have for Adult programming on Sunday mornings, and we have a team to put together a curriculum for a Sunday Pre-kindergarten class to start in the fall.

On behalf of the Officers and the Board of Trustees, I thank all of you who have generously donated to the Expansion fund, and funded dedications for the expansion. There are still opportunities to contribute toward the furnishings and to dedicate items. If you are interested in donating toward the new classrooms, please contact our Treasurer, Susan Kuning.

Happy new year to all of you. I wish you all the best in 2019.

Adult Education News by Steve Seliger - Adult Education Co-Chair

Beth Shalom launches its Spring 2019 Adult Education curriculum with a wide range of exciting and stimulating classes, speakers, and activities!

Our exciting Shabbat programming include:

- Jan 19, Feb 9 - Torah Talks: Join Rabbi Amy Scheinerman, author of the new 2 volume work, "The Talmud of Relationships", for an engaging discussion on the how the weekly Torah reading can inform how we live our lives. Discussions take place during Sabbath services that begin at 9:30 am.
- February 8 - Combating Extremism in Israel: Modern Voices. How does the rise of religious, political and social extremism in Israel affect the vision of Israel as a light unto the nations and as the homeland of the entire Jewish People? What can be done to combat the rise of such extremism in Israel? These are some of the questions that will be discussed in this stimulating guest speaker series featuring activists and thought leaders. This recurring series will take place on Feb 8, March 8, April 12, and June 14, during Friday night services.

• Vatikim Dinner for mature singles, adults proceed services on these evenings.

• Feb 22 - Ask the Rabbi Bring your questions about any aspect of Jewish belief, custom, history, tradition, and current events for a spirited discussion with Rabbi Grossman during Friday evening services at 8 pm.

Join THE (Interfaith) Conversation, The Courageous Conversation: Build skills for discussing differences and building understanding as our second series of Conversation Circles begins. Engage in deeper conversations with more participating interfaith partners in fewer locations to ensure a greater diversity of voices in each conversation circle. Join this opportunity to build a more understanding and kinder community. Free and open to the public. Bring your friends and neighbors. Further details regarding dates and registration will be available from Beth Shalom shortly. Interested in training to become a conversation circle facilitator? Sign up is required by Jan 11.

Facilitators must attend three trainings: Jan 22, Jan 29, and Feb 5. Please contact the Beth Shalom office for further information on how to register.

Beth Shalom's Jewish Author Series resumes in Spring 2019 on Sunday March 3 at 7:30 pm. Our first speaker will be Elizabeth S. Poliner, the author of the novel As Close to Us as Breathing (Little, Brown & Co.), winner of the 2017 Janet Heidinger Kafka Prize in Fiction, finalist for the Library of Virginia's People's Choice Award in Fiction and the Ribalow Prize for Jewish fiction, and an Amazon Best Book of 2016. She has also authored a poetry collection What You Know in Your Hands, and a novel-in-stories, Mutual Life & Casualty. She teaches at Hollins University where she directs the Jackson Center for Creative Writing .

Conversational Hebrew will resume on Wednesdays at 7:45 beginning January 30. This class, with emphasis on grammar, conversational Hebrew, and vocabulary acquisition, is led by master teacher and native Israeli Ora Fisch. This class continues previous classes, but newcomers are welcome.

Education by Dr. Louis Nagel

Contact Dr. Nagel at Louis.Nagel@beth-shalom.net or call (410) 531-5115 x322

The Arts and Creativity in Schools is the theme of this month's issue of the professional journal, Educational Leadership. The introductory statement includes a quote, "Seeing like an artist means seeing things in new and different ways." That well sums up our goals for our Jewish Cultural Arts Initiative which has moved into its second year. We began this effort with a focus on the visual arts. Sixth graders learned about Pesach traditions of Kiddush (four cups), Elijah and Miriam. The next step was to choose and carry out their interpretation of cups for fulfilling either of those holiday rituals. A recent activity for kindergartners and first graders, was making mezzuzot. These projects were opportunities to advance the goals of experiential learning, primarily, connecting content learning to an artistic endeavor; instruction on traditions and rituals with a creative component. A bonus, in these cases, were products of lasting utility, traditional ritual objects.

Last year we brought drama into the mix. A local theater director, Susan Brall, joined our faculty. Most of the activities she presented connected to Bible or holiday curricula. One exercise centered on narratives like the Maccabees and others on the stories told in Megillat Esther and Exodus. Further broadening this addition, a number of theatrical scripts were conducted in the High Holy Day youth programs. A recent series of lessons advanced this year's Middot (Jewish Ethics) project with improvisations connected to the values of Ometz Lev (inner courage), Hakarat Hatov (recognizing the good) and Hesed (kindness).

Our music program has made great strides with the addition of Cantor Apt to the Religious School staff. Among the early indications of the potential for this dimension to the Initiative were student presentations for Hanukkat HaTalmidim (formerly called kindergarten consecration), an annual 3rd-5th grade concert at Harmony Hall and our school-wide Hanukkah Zimriyah (songfest). There is little that better communicates internalizing a concept than seeing a child singing with passion and energy, no song sheet to be seen.

Culinary arts, mostly conducted by collaboration of congregant Eve Klein and 7th grade teacher, Jane Goldberg fit in well with this curriculum project. This year we added rikudei am (Israeli folk dancing) and yoga to our offerings. Both have been positively received and have great potential as modes for exploring Judaism.

I look forward to the ongoing development of the Jewish Cultural Arts Initiative. Our early successes have made it clear that broadening the approaches to educational experience serves to engage the widest range of learners. We are nurturing unique, groundbreaking synagogue school practices. It began with seed money from the Sisterhood, whose support for the school in this and other efforts has been impactful. We know our tradition encourages pursuing these dimensions to enrich Jewish learning. In the spirit of emulating God, we are acting on the first words of Torah, Bereshit bara - Creation.

Sisterhood News

The sweet memory of Hanukkah is still with us as we move into the cold, winter months. Keeping our Jewish light burning in our homes and synagogue will hold the dreariness at bay. Come out from under that cozy, throw blanket from time to time, and stay connected Jewishly with Sisterhood.

Enjoy a good movie in the company of friends. Treat yourself to some chocolate and movie-themed treats as we watch a movie at our Chick Flick and Chocolate get-together on January 12.

Then find out why the Instant Pot and other electronic pressure cookers are all the rage at our January 28 get-together and Sisterhood meeting at Beth Shalom. We'll see one live in action with a cooking demonstration by Jodie Berson. While things cook, we'll have an informal Sisterhood meeting

Moving into February, enjoy Kreplach and Dim Sum: Yes There are Jews in China, with special guest, Robyn Helzner, and a delicious Chinese dinner.

The dough moves from the soup pot into the oven as we start our annual hamantaschen baking in February. Experience the fun as we bake over 1500 hamantaschen for shalach manot packages and various Purim events. Then join the shalach manot assembly and delivery teams in March. We'll need loads of volunteers, so do a mitzvah and join in.

Upcoming Events

January 12: Chick Flick and Chocolate - 7:00 pm at Eve Klein's house. Snow date: January 19
January 28: Instant Pot demo & Sisterhood meeting, 7 pm

Men's Club Brunch

On Sunday, January 20 at 10:30am

Men's Club will welcome Nazi Hunter, Eli Rosenbaum, to Beth Shalom.

Mr. Rosenbaum is the former Director of the U.S. DOJ Office of Special Investigations (OSI), which was primarily responsible for identifying, denaturalizing, and deporting Nazi war criminals.

He is now the Director of Human Rights Enforcement Strategy and Policy in the new Department of Justice section.

The cost for brunch for Men's Club members and their families is $5/pp, and the cost for non-members in $10/pp. It will be an incredibly interesting talk.

We look forward to seeing you there.

Book Club

The Beth Shalom Book Club extends our condolences to the family of Gail Greengrass, their beloved wife, mother, and grandmother. Gail was one of the founding members of the Book Club. She will be missed.

The Book Club meets on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. We chat about the book and enjoy some munchies. Everyone is welcome to attend. We're always glad to see newcomers. Contact Sharon Schreiber (sharonschreiber@comcast.net, 443-745-1941) to find out where we are meeting.

Here are the books we will be discussing over the next few months:

- January 9 - Playing with Matches, by Hannah Orenstein
- February 13 - The Muralist, B.A. Shapiro

BABY-SITTING LIST

Want to be included on Beth Shalom's baby-sitter list? Please contact Liat (410) 531-5115 and let her know your age, neighborhood, and the best way to contact you! If you've taken a baby-sitting class, please let her know that as well.

Do a Purim Mitzvah

- Sign Purim card
- Bake hamentaschen
- Deliver shalach manot packages

Delivery Personnel Wanted!

Deliver Shalach Manot packages for Purim.

No experience necessary – we'll tell you where they live. You take them bags of goodies, meet new people, fulfill a mitzvah, and have a bit of fun at the same time.

Send your name and contact information to sisterhoodbethshalom@gmail.com And we'll be in touch before Purim with instructions and a hearty Thanks.

See signup form on page 8 in the Scroll

Are you ready for your new Mah Jongg card? Order it now and do a mitzvah at the same time!

A portion of the cost of each card goes to the Jewish Emergency Network (JEN). The National Mah Jongg League sent JEN a check last year for $567 for our card orders. JEN was established within the Jewish Federation of Howard County to help those individuals and families who struggle to place food on the table, heat their homes, and provide clothing for their children.

Standard cards are still $8 and the large cards are $9.

Please send your checks, made out to Jewish Emergency Network, no later than January 18th to:
